

The Day After Yesterday

Yesterday everything changed
When you appeared my life was rearranged
The puzzle's been finished, the pieces all fit
The darkness has lifted, the candle's been lit

Today when I woke up everything's new
The coffee tastes better, it's all 'cause of you
The music is sweeter, the colors are bright
I'm feeling so happy, everything's right

The day after yesterday
The day after yesterday
The day after yesterday
The day after yesterday

I see us together wherever we go
I'm not in a hurry, I wanna go slow
You'll be my partner as well as my friend
Accepting our real selves, no need to pretend

The day after yesterday, the day after yesterday
The day after yesterday, the day after yesterday

Half of the people have given up hope
Another twenty percent are at the end of their rope
When opportunity knocks they don't answer the door
The TV's too loud, or they've gone to the store
To buy lottery tickets, to spin the big wheel
As if that's their best chance to get a better deal
You win some, you lose some, but today I cashed in
And if we could go back in time I know we'd do it again
This is the song I will play, with you I will stay

The day after yesterday (that would be today)
The day after yesterday (so much more to say)
The day after yesterday (we are on our way)
The day after yesterday (together come what may)